

AN INVITATION

Come! Join Professor Kurt Fischer, a leading researcher in education, and his colleagues from the Harvard Graduate School of Education as they share some of their groundbreaking research in education with the Caribbean. Engage them in dialogue, see how their work can benefit the region's education system and explore opportunities for their further collaboration with Caribbean Educators.

Dear Educator / Education Researchers / Education Policy Maker:

We have the pleasure of inviting you to participate in the Caribbean Mind, Brain and Education (MBE) Summer Institute which will take place at the University of the West Indies Cave Hill Campus in Barbados 19- 23 July 2011.

This high level Education Institute will be delivered by a highly qualified and respected team from the Harvard Graduate School of Education (HGSE) lead by world renowned education researcher and practitioner Professor Kurt Fischer. It will comprise five (5) tracks that will explore topics such as:

- The Emerging Field of Mind, Brain, and Education
- Setting the Table: Knowing YOUR Philosophies of Education
- A New Direction in Testing and Assessment
- Neurobehavioral development in the child: What develops? When? Why? How
- How Variability in Learning Informs Teaching in the 21st Century
- The Upside and Downside of Digital Technologies
- Building a brain: the foundation for behavior

The conference will also feature some of the Caribbean's most respected educators as they share their experiences in education in the Region. The language of the conference is English.

We invite you to visit our website at www.caribbeanmbe.com to obtain further information and to register for the conference. You may also contact the Conference Coordinator as indicated below. Early Bird registration and specials are available for a limited time only.

Sincerely,
